

Form Submission - Emoji

Name: Emily Hurd

Do you use Emoji in typical conversation with friends? If so, do they ever replace written words? : Yes, mostly just the classic smiley or frown face or the cat smiley faces

Do you feel Emoji capture and communicate ideas that traditional language cannot?: Yes, but I'd rather just send a picture of my face to really capture the expression

Do you use Emoji to identify/connect with certain cultural groups or communities?: No

Are there contexts where you are significantly more/less likely to use Emoji?: When I don't know someone very well, I make sure to use smileys to come off super friendly

Do you think Emoji have expanded or reduced linguistic capabilities in any way?: Naw

Are there certain Emoji which have a personal or hidden meaning for you? If so, would you share a few?: HAAH i wish but not really. I do enjoy the creepy clown face for weird occasions though

Any other thoughts?:

(Sent via Stride and Saunter)